THE STORY OF PLYMOUTH Salem's march to the Class A baseball championship Saturday was in the left arm of senior pitcher Tom Willette. Willette was the winning pitcher in both the semi-final and final game and came through with several key hits to lead the Rocks to the title. For details of the Salem victories, see the game story on page 10. (Staff photo by Maurie Walker)

Rape victim identifies attacker

PLYMOUTH — A Westland woman who charged she had been sexually assaulted identified the alleged assailant in open court Thursday during pre-trial arraignment conducted by 35th District Judge Dunbar Davis.

At the request of defense attorney John McDonald of Farmington Hills, a lineup was established during the proceedings to see if the defendant could be identified.

The victim, without hesitation identified, Lawrence Franklin Jr., 32 of 7631 Kingsbridge, Canton Township, as the man who assaulted her.

FRANKLIN was bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court for trial. Bond was continued at $100,000. He stood mute (no plea) at pre-trial and the court entered a plea of innocent on his behalf. The pre-trial arraignment in circuit court is scheduled for July 10.

Franklin, vice-president of the Windsor Park Civic Association, remains in jail having failed to post bond. His attorney is expected to petition circuit court for a reduction in bond.

FRANKLIN HAS been charged with criminal sexual conduct, first degree. He was arrested in his home May 28 after a Westland woman filed a complaint with police that she was forced at gunpoint to commit a sexual act in the creek near McKinley and Ann Arbor Road four days earlier.

The pre-trial in Plymouth established that the evidence against Franklin was "sufficient to establish probable cause" that a crime had been committed and the accused had committed the crime.

Evidence gathered by police was introduced by Varskin Baydarian, Wayne County assistant prosecutor who handled the prosecution in 35th District Court.

WHEN FIRST arraigned, Franklin's defense attorney entered asked that his client be sent to the forensic center for examination because he was mentally incompetent to in his own defense.

Judge Davis granted that request and says the report back from the forensic center in Ypsilanti indicated Franklin was mentally and emotionally competent and could stand trial.

The investigation was conducted by a task force of City of Plymouth Police Department officers and Michigan State Police troopers in Plymouth.

The Plymouth-Canton Development Commission (PCDC), an agency charged with the attraction of industry to the Plymouth-Canton area, could soon enter the throes of death.

Governing bodies of Canton and Plymouth townships, two of the four local governmental units which support the PCDC, have agreed to reevaluate their participation in the industrial agency and could decide to drop out.

That, says PCDC president Harold Guenther, could signal the agency's death.

"If one unit dropped out, I think it would have a domino effect," Guenther said. "The drop-out would have a reason and impinge on the other municipalities. It would take $5,000 annually out of the budget and preclude the hiring of a professional person. If one or two units dropped out, it might cause the other units to reevaluate their participation."

PCDC MEMBERS, which include the City of Plymouth, the Plymouth Community School District and Plymouth and Canton townships, recently received their semi-annual bills of $2,500, covering the period April 1 through Sept. 31.

Raymond Hoedel, the school district's assistant superintendent for business, said the school board has already pledged its share of the funding through Sept. 31. The school board, he added, will probably reassess its participation between now and September.

Plymouth City Manager Fred Yockey said the PCDC's semi-annual bill will soon appear before commission members.

"I'm sure there'll be some discussion on our further participation," Yockey said. "I really don't know what they'll decide to do."

The boards of trustees of Canton and Plymouth townships, however, have already begun to seriously consider the dropping of the program.

THE PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP Board of Trustees last week deleted the PCDC payment from its list of approved bills. Board members directed Trustee Frank Millington to submit a report on the PCDC in four to six weeks as well as a recommendation on the township's continued participation in the program.

"We've questioned before whether we've been getting use out of the commission," said township Clerk Helen Richardson. "There was a question whether we should stay in when they hired Jim McCartney (as executive director in September)."

"It's hard to say whether the commission's done us any good," she added. "We have no idea how much industry came in because of the PCDC. There's no way you can tell. Our balance of industry is good right now."

CANTON'S BOARD of trustees Tuesday considered ending its participation in the PCDC but decided to table the matter, pending action from the PCDC's board of directors concerning the replacement of former executive director James McCartney, who recently resigned.

PCDC members will discuss that matter next week, according to Guenther.

"It's sitting in a state of limbo right now," he said. "I will be calling for a reaffirmation of the PCDC concept. We may see that the whole concept of PCDC is no longer supported by governing bodies."

Canton board members questioned the benefits the township has received from the agency.

"We're not against industrial development," said Supervisor Robert Greenstein. "But what we're getting from the PCDC doesn't seem to justify our participation."

Added Clerk John Flodin, "I have the feeling the organization has done its work, and it may be time to longer participate. I think we have the right to withdraw at any time. I think this may be the opportunity."

BART BERG, president of the Canton Chamber of Commerce, said, "I would hate to see the township abandon this, unless we earmark these funds for the attraction of industry to the township. I think you could spend $5,000 without a full time director."

Although the Plymouth City Commission's position on the PCDC is undetermined at this time, Yockey expressed hopes that the agency will survive.

"I personally hope that everyone stays in it," the city manager said. "I think there's a need for a place where people wanting to locate in the area can go."

Referring to the location of industry within the city limits, Yockey said: "There's always inquiries made of what's available in the city. There's always plants that come and go. I think the PCDC has benefits for the city."

The PCDC was founded about five years ago to attract industrial and commercial development to the area. The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce currently holds a one-year contract with the PCDC to provide services.

McCartney served as liaison between the Chamber of Commerce and the PCDC from his hiring in September until his recent resignation.

Township seeks grant for planning

CANTON—Township officials hope to gain $25,000 in planning funds from the federal government.

The board of trustees unanimously agreed last week to apply for the grant, available through the federal "701 program" and distributed through the State of Michigan, by the June 13 deadline.

To be eligible for the funds, the township must conduct a housing study to identify the housing problems of the community and outline possible solutions to those problems, according to township planner Michael Manore.

A land use plan, which township officials hope to complete in July, is another eligibility requirement of the funding program.

The township must add $8,000 of its own funds to the federal grant money, if the entire $25,000 is awarded, according to township Clerk John Flodin.

- The study of the future "community facility" needs of residents. The need for future library, recreational and educational facilities would be explored.

- A study of the capital improvement needs of municipal buildings.

- A study of existing housing conditions and the housing needs of senior citizens and the handicapped.

- The completion and publication of the township's land use plan.

- A review of the township's regulations concerning subdivision division and platting development.

Nominations are lacking for citizens council

CANTON—Township officials tried to appoint members to a Citizens Advisory Council (CAC) last week, but only a few organizations wanted to join.

The appointment item appeared on the township board's agenda last Tuesday night, but was tabled because only three organizations submitted nominations.

"After all the hurrah and work that went into this," said Supervisor Robert Greenstein, "we only have suggested appointments from a few groups."

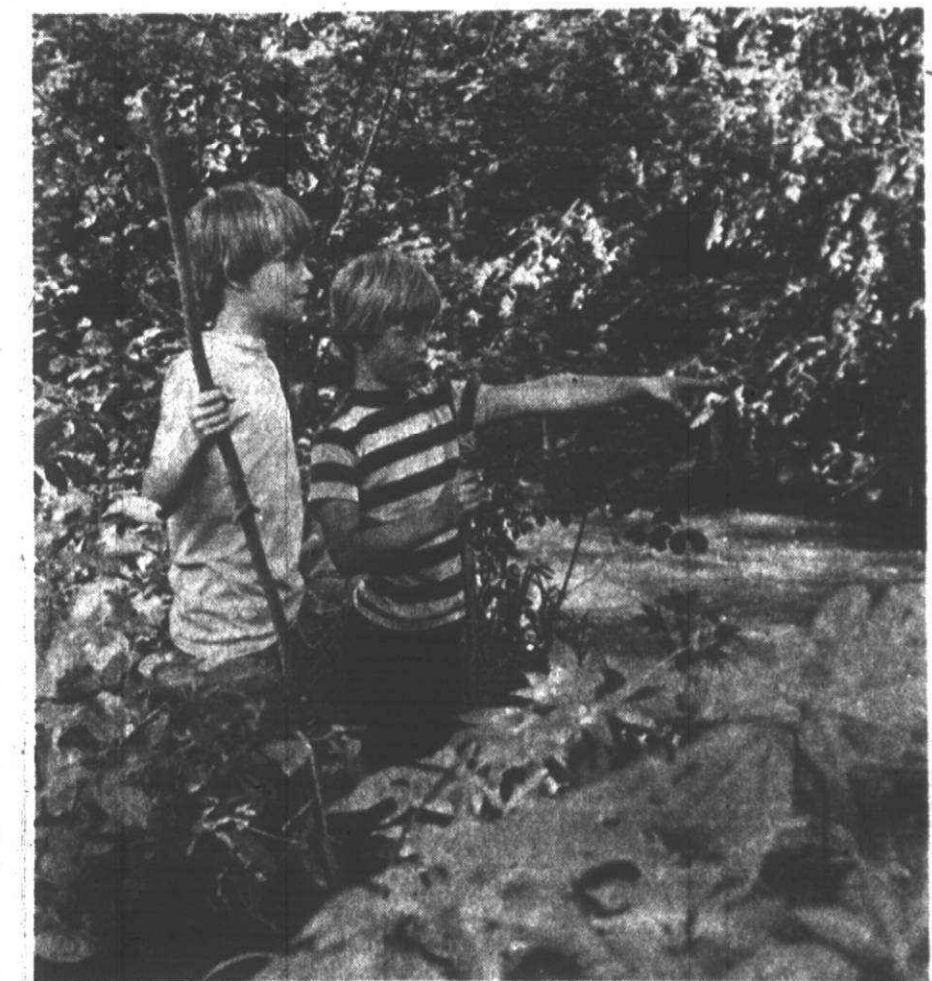

Greenstein's office sent letters on May 22 to more than 20 organizations, including homeowner associations, the Farm Bureau, and the Canton Township Chamber of Commerce, inviting them to each submit one nomination to the CAC. The letter asked the groups to quickly submit the nominations, since it was "the board's intention to make the appointments as soon as possible."

But, as of last week, the township had received nominations only from the Northwest Homeowners Association, the Canton Chamber of Commerce and an organization representing the Royal Holiday Mobile Home Park. The Carriage Hills Homeowner Association submitted a letter declining membership in the CAC because of a conflict with its by-laws.

The board agreed to table the appointment matter, until more nominations are submitted. The board will approve or veto each nomination.

After the council is established, CAC members will study the council's representation of the township and ask the township board to appoint representatives from other areas.

The CAC, as established by the township board in mid-May, will act as a research and investigative team and submit recommendations to the township board.

Summer fun

ONE OF THE MANY programs offered this summer by the Canton-Northville Plymouth YMCA includes daily hiking and biking excursions for boys and girls age 9 through 13. John and Jim Luce are getting in a little pre-planning on some trips to take this summer in the program which will run from 9:30 a.m. through 3:30 p.m. Hikers will pack a lunch and explore the local recreation lands with an emphasis on hiking and biking safety. To match union employees

Pay raises eyed for elected county officials

WAYNE COUNTY—County commissioners will consider today (June 16) whether to add $738,000 in extra expenses to the county's current budget already expected to strain with a projected $8 million deficit.

Recommendations to add $256,600 for 4.5 per cent pay raises for elected officials, their deputies and all nonunion employees, and $481,328 for criminal justice programs were approved Thursday by the board's Ways and Means Committee.

Approval was given despite protestations by the county's Board of Auditors.

THE PAY RAISES, timed to coincide with a 4.5 per cent raise negotiated for Council 23 union employees, will, if approved, become effective July 1 and run to the end of the fiscal year, Nov. 31. The raises would cost $612,800 for the next fiscal year.

Except for county commissioners, the raises will apply to all elected officials—county judges, auditors, county clerk, drain commissioner, prosecuting attorney, register of deeds, sheriff and treasurer—and their appointed deputies.

Pay hikes will also be given to 511 other employees exempt from collective bargaining.

COMMISSIONER Richard Manning (D-Redford), whose district includes

Redford Township and part of Livonia, argued in favor of the raises to bring the officials and employees into equity with other county employees. He called 4.5 per cent "extremely modest."

Manning contended savings in personnel expenses could be negotiated in terms other than the 4.5 per cent raise.

"It is a unique logic to say we should make things (deficit) worse and worse before we deal with it," said Commissioner Tom F. Taylor (D-Westland), whose district includes Garden City and part of Westland. "It shows a unique callousness on the part of elected officials."

On another item requiring raises for supervisors totalling $168,100 for the rest of the year, Taylor exploded at his fellow commissioners who favored the raises. "I'm going to change my tactic (of opposing additional expenses) and I'm going to vote to push us into a crisis situation. Maybe then we will all sit down and work out our problems at the table."

COMMISSIONER Mary Dumas (R-Livonia) opposed the raises, saying, "They must make some kind of sacrifice. The people (employees) are basically at equity."

The vote was 12-7 with Manning in favor and Commissioners Royce Smith (D-Belleville), whose district includes Plymouth and Canton Township, Taylor and Mrs. Dumas opposing the raises. Commissioner John Barr (D-Dearborn Heights), whose district includes part of Westland, was absent.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE programs approved by Ways and Means for funding include five previously funded by the federal and state governments. The position of an administrator in the prosecutor's office was approved, but will not cost the county any additional money.

Others approved and the amount of funding for the remainder of the fiscal year are:

- Prosecutor's Consumer Protection Unit, $193,415;
- Recorder's Court Drug Addict Probation Services, $155,913;
- Sheriff's Metro Narcotic Squad, $132,000; and •Sheriff's Metropolitan Helicopter Program, $41,000 to continue an experimental patrol of the Westland-Garden City-Wayne -Inkster area.

County Auditor John Gourlay said: "To extend these grants at this time to the end of the year would be folly...you people (commissioners) will have to bear the brunt of this action... If you do this, you will have to cut basic services."

County budget cuts ordered

WAYNE COUNTY—A $2.5 million reduction in the county's current budget has been mandated by the board of commissioners.

At its June 5 meeting, the board ordered several of its departments to cut their spending by $2,487,235 so the county can reduce its projected $8.8 million deficit.

Other steps taken to save money are: stringent enforcement of the freeze on hiring, expanding use of Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) employees, reserving $3.5 million in capital improvement projects appropriations for possible operating expense use, and reducing non-departmental spending by $0.4 million.

The Labor Relations Board has been authorized to meet with county labor unions, the board of auditors and the board's fiscal adviser to discuss ways of cutting personnel costs. Any agreement requiring sacrifice by county employees would be unilaterally applied to all of them, according to an amendment sponsored by Commissioner Tom F. Taylor (D-Westland).

REDUCTIONS in departmental spending include $1.7 million at Wayne County General Hospital, $407,000 in circuit court, $214,790 in recorder's court and its probation department, and $150,375 in common pleas court.

An approved amendment sponsored by Commissioner Richard Manning

(D-Redford) stipulates that the hospital, in reducing its spending, should consider layoffs as a last possible solution and should meet with interested alternatives.

STEPS TOWARD reducing the deficit were begun last year by a special committee, including area commissioners John Barr (D-Dearborn Heights) and Manning, and only were finally approved by the board's ways and means committee last month.

Commissioners Mary Dumas (R-Livonia), Royce Smith (D-Belleville), Barr, Manning and Taylor voted with the majority, 16-5, with one abstention to approve the cost-cutting program on June 5.

Commissioners revoke county hospital layoffs

WAYNE COUNTY—Layoff notices issued to about 40 Wayne County General Hospital employees have been rescinded while other means of saving $1.7 million at the hospital are sought.

Notices delivered May 30 with an effective date of June 20 were ordered pulled back by the board of commissioners June 5. The board directed the board of county institutions (BCI) to withdraw the notices, as recommended by the board's human resources committee.

Commissioner Tom F. Taylor (D-Westland) opposed the board's action, while Commissioner Mary Dumas (R-Livonia) abstained. Commissioners John Barr (D-Dearborn Heights), Richard Manning (D-Redford) and Royce Smith (D-Belleville) voted with the majority, 14-3, with five abstentions.

Barr's district includes part of Westland; Mrs. Dumas', most of Livonia; Manning's, Redford Township and parts of Livonia; Smith's, Plymouth and Canton Township; and Taylor's, Garden City and part of Westland.

LAYOFFS WERE ordered by the hospital administration when it became apparent in early May that commissioners wanted to cut the hospital's budget by $500,000 more than hospital officials had anticipated.

A May 15 report sent by the BCI to the human resources committee detailing steps to cut back nonpatient care personnel was apparently disregarded when committee members voted June 4 to censure the board of institutions for its "unilateral" action.

The board of commissioners, however, killed the committee's recommendation for censure for approving the notices without board clearance.

THE BOARD OF institutions, comprised of three commissioners and two elected county auditors, is responsible for policy decisions concerning the hospital. Symuel Smith is the hospital administrator responsible for management.

Some viewed the committee's action as a challenge to Smith.

Commissioner Manning June 12 said the implication made by some commissioners was that "Smith should either save the money (in some other way) or find a new hospital. Smith was a test case, and the test only showed we have no money."

UNDER A DECISION prompted by Manning, representatives of hospital management and employees and the board of commissioners are to meet to discuss ways of saving the board-ordered $1.7 million out of the hospital's $40 million budget.

W-W reorganizes administration

WESTLAND — Three months after a major reorganization, the Wayne-Westland School District is losing three of its top-level administrators.

Warren Spurlin, assistant superintendent for curriculum, Bates Landis, assistant superintendent for physical and plant operations, and William Pearson, assistant superintendent for general administration, will be leaving July 1.

This is when the district's reorganization plan, outlined by Supt. Timothy Dyer in March, will take effect. Under the administrative plan Dennis O'Neill will be the deputy superintendent for instruction and Thomas Blacklock will be deputy superintendent for operations. O'Neill previously was Dyer's administrative aid.

Also moved into the central office administration was Ray Rafford, who will be assistant superintendent for physical and plant operations; and J. Michael Washburn, who will be assistant superintendent for employee relations.

Both Spurlin and Landis have received contracts with the Taylor School District. In their new jobs, Spurlin will be assistant superintendent for curriculum and Landis will be assistant superintendent for business.

Spurlin has been with the district since 1969 and once served on the school board as president. He had been a principal in the Lamphere School District.

Landis came to the district in 1953, when he was a teacher at East Junior High. He became director of the budget and finance in 1965 and served a stint as assistant superintendent for business affairs.

Pearson is reportedly under consideration as superintendent for the Willow Run School District. Pearson was slated to become assistant superintendent for physical and plant operations under the reorganization.

Residential sewer rates hiked

A rate increase of close to 50 per cent for sewage treatment by the Metropolitan Detroit Water Department, could mean an even bigger boost in rates for area residents.

The increase, scheduled to begin on Sept. 1 has officials in the city of Plymouth and Canton and Plymouth townships taking a closer look at rates charged to residents.

According to Plymouth City Manager Fred Yockey the rate increase will represent an average boost of $2.71 per quarter for city residents, "but that doesn't mean a whole lot. Some people use 10 times that amount. It depends on their usage of water," Yockey said.

Plymouth Township Water Department head Web Kincade said rates will be increased to at least cover the cost increase from the MDWD, but added there may be an additional markup by the township. "Everything else has gone up too. We buy autos like everyone else and our labor has gone up."

"THERE PROBABLY will be a markup because of the added expense for us," Kincade said.

Yockey said he thought the city would be able to keep the increase at the same level as the rate hike from Detroit, with no additional markup, but Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein said he wasn't sure the same could be said in Canton.

"We've absorbed several rate hikes already and I don't honestly know whether we will add our own markup at this point."

Greenstein added some criticism of the hike: "In my discussions with Livonia Mayor Ed McNamara (a member of the MDWD) I've learned that only half of the rate hike may be necessary at present. The increase is set up so that half goes to general improvement of the system and the other half goes to improvements within the Detroit system. I don't enjoy supporting the Detroit system with out-county donations."

The supervisor said he doubted that much would be done by suburban officials to fight the Sept. 1 hike which will put the price of treatment for one million gallons of waste water at $140.96, from a previous $94.18.

"The thinking right now is to accept the increase at present and fight to insure that it doesn't happen again."

GREENSTEIN said he is hopeful the state legislature will take action on three proposals to bring some equity into the current operation of the water department which services southeastern Michigan.

"We've made three recommendations which would insure the suburbs aren't treated unfairly including: • Equal representation on the MDWD by the suburbs (currently there are four Detroit representatives and three from Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties). • An annual up-to-date audit of the books which will be available to the public. • A 'real' public hearing prior to any proposed rate increase with a method for appealing the ruling of the MDWD."

Sewage charges in all three communities are based on the amount of water that is metered as it comes into the home or business. The sewage rate is then applied to the amount of water taken in and added to the actual water charge to produce a combined water and sewer bill.

New union vote set for Canton

By DARLENE STINSON

CANTON— Township office workers will have another opportunity to vote on membership in the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME).

Township and union officials Friday agreed to hold a second election on June 24 to settle the question of union membership and AFSCME's charges that a first election, held on April 23 resulting in a tie vote, was improperly conducted.

Officials agreed to settle the matter at a hearing held before James Kurtz, administrative law judge for the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC), to avoid a lengthy hearing procedure and far-off decision, according to township treasurer Carl Parsell, who represented Canton at the hearing.

UNION OFFICIALS had asked MERC to order another union election for Canton office workers. The township, the union charged, had failed to mail AFSCME the names and addresses of township employees seven days before the election, as stipulated by state law.

Because of a heavy backlog of cases, MERC would have taken five or six months to render a decision, according to Kurtz.

Canton officials say the township mailed the list in ample time and allowed the union to hold a meeting on township property.

"I was adamant that we had done everything required," said Parsell. "But after weighing the time needed for a decision, I realized that the employees would be held in abeyance until December or January. I didn't think that would be fair. We consented to another vote, if it was held right away."

The union, Parsell said, agreed to withdraw its objection over the ballot of Pam Phillips, Supervisor Robert Greenstein's secretary.

AFSCME had challenged Mrs. Phillips' ballot at the time of the first election and maintained she served in a supervisory capacity.

Mrs. Phillips' ballot, cast in the first union election in April, has never been opened because of the union challenge. Although the opening of her ballot would have broken the 5-5 vote on union membership, her vote would not have solved the employee list question.

"She will vote in the next election," Parsell said. "There's no proof that she's a supervisor. The union withdrew all objections on that."

Union officials were unavailable for comment.

Although 11 office workers voted in the April 23 election, the ballots of only nine were originally opened. MERC had challenged the right of a part-time office worker to participate in the election, but later admitted its error and opened the employee's ballot.

The part-time worker's vote brought the original 5-4 vote against union membership to a tie.

FRANCIS MAGRETA, who day after day helps Bird Elementary School students cross the busy intersection at Sheldon and Ann Arbor Trail, Friday received an unexpected "Father's Day" gift from his young charges. The students (with a little help from mom) presented Magreta with a "stop sign" cake and dinner tickets for two. Students responsible for the happy surprise were Kirsten and Kristopher Stalhakis and David, Michael, Diane and Patricia Chisner.

Real estate dealers see gains

Last year was not a complete bust for residential sales in the area served by the United Northwest Realty Association (UNRA). In fact, UNRA officers feel some of the modest gains shown in the association's annual statistical report are significant — especially when compared to other market areas.

"In the face of high interest rates, tight money supplies and the generally depressed state of the economy, we consider 1974 a remarkable year of growth," says Michael D. Samonek, executive vice president of UNRA.

Although the number of multi-lists and actual units sold declined slightly from 1973, the average sale price during 1974 increased from $27,280 to $29,445 and total sales volume rose by nearly $50 million over the $335 million in 1973.

1973 WAS a peak year for the number of listings and units sold since 1946. Last year, however, was the peak year for total sales volume in dollars and in the average sales price per home sold.

Of those homes listed in 1974, 42.2 per cent were sold compared to 43.7 per cent in 1973, 43.4 per cent in 1972, and 53.1 per cent in 1971. The peak year for the sales-listing ratio was 1965 with a 70.2 per cent mark achieved.

"With the value of many existing houses increasing by as much as 10 per cent annually," comments Samonek, "many persons recognize house ownership as their only hedge against inflation. Certainly, a house is a sound investment. One thing which is clear from the figures is that no one should delay the purchase of a home. Even lower interest rates can cost money in the long run."

Samonek was referring to the inflationary spiral in the housing market, continuously inching upwards since 1946 when the average sales price for homes sold by UNRA was $9,450. In 1965 the average sales price was $15,460, in 1967 $17,400, in 1969 $21,650, in 1971 $24,590, in 1974 $29,445.

Sales in suburban areas rose 1.2 per cent overall with the strongest increases in the "bedroom communities." Home sales in four of seven areas in Detroit showed decreases from 1973 but these were nearly offset by gains in the stronger areas with the total decline being less than 0.3 per cent. "Obviously, the Detroit market remains strong and reasonably viable."

IN REDFORD TOWNSHIP, the average sales in 1974 was $27,800 — an increase of 6.7 per cent over 1973.

There were 703 units sold last year in Redford — an increase of 19 units. The two previous years, Redford experienced a decrease in the units sold compared to earlier years.

Of Redford's 1974 residential sales,

43 were financed with cash, 145 by assumption of an existing mortgage, 18 FHA, 43 VA, 376 conventional loans, and 78 land contracts.

IN THE MARKET AREA consisting of Garden City, Westland, Wayne and Inkster, the average sales price for 1974 was $24,780 — an increase of 2.9 per cent over the year before.

In this area, a total of 1,607 units were sold which was an increase of 37 units over the year before. The last decline in units sold was in 1972 when sales were 135 units below 1971.

Of the 1,607 units sold, 50 were financed with cash, 462 by mortgage assumption, 132 FHA, 193 VA, 615 conventional and 154 land contract.

IN LIVONIA, the average sales price in '74 was $36,190 which was a 10 per cent increase over 1973.

In 1973 the price per house increased 4.8 per cent over 1972 and increased 2.9 per cent from 1971 to 1972.

There were 1,308 units sold in Livonia last year — an increase of 27 units over '73. This was a rebound from 1973 when the units sold declined by 148 from 1972.

Of the 1,308 houses sold, 43 were financed by cash, 431 by mortgage assumption, 10 FHA, 27 VA, 670 conventional, and 126 by land contract.

IN THE PLYMOUTH-CANTON area, the average sales price last year was $38,895 — an increase of 8.5 per cent over 1972. Plymouth-Canton home sales have been rising steadily since '71.

In this area in 1974 there were 532 units sold — an increase of 70 over 1973. This was also an improvement over '73 when this market had a decline in units sold of 65 from 1972.

Of the 532 units sold in Plymouth-Canton, 24 were financed by cash, 163 by mortgage assumption, 4 FHA, 3 VA 254 conventional, and 84 by land contract.

In the entire UNRA area, of the total sales 38.6 per cent were financed by conventional, 24.3 per cent by mortgage assumption, 14.5 per cent FHA, 11.3 per cent land contract, 7.7 per cent VA and 3.6 per cent cash. The figures reflect only sales handled by firms who are members of UNRA.

Samonek said the figures represent a decided shift in methods of financing with a decline in the percentage of conventional mortgages, assumption sales, and an increase in land contracts.

Barbara Johnson honored by Dems

Barbara Johnson of Livonia, long active in Democratic party politics and a candidate for Wayne County Commissioner in 1974, is her party's outstanding woman in Wayne County. Mrs. Johnson was honored with a plaque presented at a Roma Hall dinner put on by the Wayne County Democratic Committee.

Chairman Bruce Miller presented citations to Mrs. Johnson and six men who have been active in party work. Each was honored for "Outstanding service to the people and the party."

Mrs. Elizabeth Burch, chairperson for the dinner, said of the only woman honored:

"I can't say enough good about Barbara Johnson. She's the kind of female we need; she isn't always looking for credit, but she is there working hard for the party."

Mrs. Johnson is first vice-chairperson of the Wayne 2nd Democratic organization and branch manager of the Secretary of State office in the Wonderland shopping center.

A precinct delegate since 1970, she has been active in dozens of Democratic campaigns.

The male Democrats sharing honors with her included Judge Blair Moody

BARBARA JOHNSON

Jr., recent candidate for the Michigan Supreme Court; Horace Brown of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers (AFL-CIO); Rosco Bobo, Wayne County Board of Commissioners chairman; Marcellus Ivory, director of Region I-A, United Auto Workers; State Rep. Bobby Crim, House Democratic leader, and State Sen. William Fitzgerald, Senate Democratic leader.

$50,000 won by Heldenbrand

LIVONIA—A Livonia man, Raymond Heldenbrand, won $50,000 in a Michigan State Lottery drawing, a lottery bureau official announced Friday.

Heldenbrand, who buys one lottery ticket a week, bought the winning stub at Van Born Pharmacy, Dearborn Heights.

editorial opinion

What's best way to improve area tax base?

Seeking the right kind of industry and commerce for a community is a tough job. It requires a level of expertise on the part of those who are selling the community and a spirit of cooperation among those businesses and industries already in the community to gain added services for residents and to expand the tax base.

Add to that the cooperation of local governments and the school district and you have the Plymouth-Canton Development Commission. Begun in the hopes of expanding the tax base within the area of the Plymouth Community Schools, the group has sought industrial and commercial growth within the community.

Since its inception five or six years ago, growth has taken place within the community, but one has to question whether that growth would have taken place without a body like the PCDC.

Those same questions are now crossing the minds of elected officials in Canton and Plymouth townships and to a lesser degree within the Plymouth Community Schools.

When times get tough, the expenditure of an additional $5,000 for membership in an organization which holds no assurances of success, becomes a serious question which has no simple answer.

When first formed, the plan was that each community was contributing to something separate from its local chamber of commerce. At the time there was only one in existence for the entire community, and this avoided the problem of possible subsidy of private enterprise by government through chamber contributions.

In reality, the situation has become closely akin to that, as all five representatives paid the salary of the outgoing PCDC executive secretary, while he also sat in the same position for the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

We see this as blatantly unfair to those residents and businesses of Canton who were not doubly represented with their contributions.

If the PCDC is to survive, it must operate in complete independence from a local chamber so that all taxpayers of each community receives equal representation.

The alternative is the abolition of the PCDC with each community taking the option to go it alone and make the investment in their own brochures and do the selling on their own.

Or make the contribution directly to either the Canton or Plymouth Chamber of Commerce allowing them to strengthen each community's non-residential tax base.

Fathers

They are a very special breed

Fathers are very special people. Think back for a few minutes about your father.

Oh, you might not call him "Father." It might be "Dad," "Pop," "Pa" or some other special name. Of course, out of hearing distance and in front of friends it's "the old man."

"My old man can beat up yours any old day."

Remember that? When you are young, he seems bigger than life, and certainly smarter than any dumb old teacher.

Besides being better than anyone else, he has one special skill he shares especially with you.

If you are a boy, he played baseball, basketball, hockey or some other sport, making sure he taught you the tricks so you could be the best.

"I'll betcha Dad could've been a pro if he wanted," you often thought.

If he was a sportsman, he went away around Thanksgiving and came home with a giant buck fastened to the car, smelling like the north woods, and a face full of whiskers that made Mom giggle and squirm.

FISHING WAS the most fun, especially when he taught you how to put a worm on the hook in the top-secret manner sure to catch the most fish.

"Gosh, he catches so many big fish."

One day he would take you hunting or on a long fishing expedition, and it would be just you and him laughing and maybe even chewing a little tobacco.

"Wouldn't Mom have a fit?"

If you are a girl, you were sure Dad was the handsomest, kindest man in the whole world. You were sure you would never marry anyone, especially if boys your age were like the chunky kid down the street who said your freckles were ugly.

Dad said your freckles meant you were going to be a movie star like Doris Day. She has a trillion freckles.

He's the only one who seems to understand that being "littl lady" is dumb and doesn't mind if you wear bluejeans and wrestle with the guys and play baseball. He even went out in the backyard and played catch when the guys had little league games.

When you felt like being feminine, however, Dad made sure that you got the prettiest dress in the world.

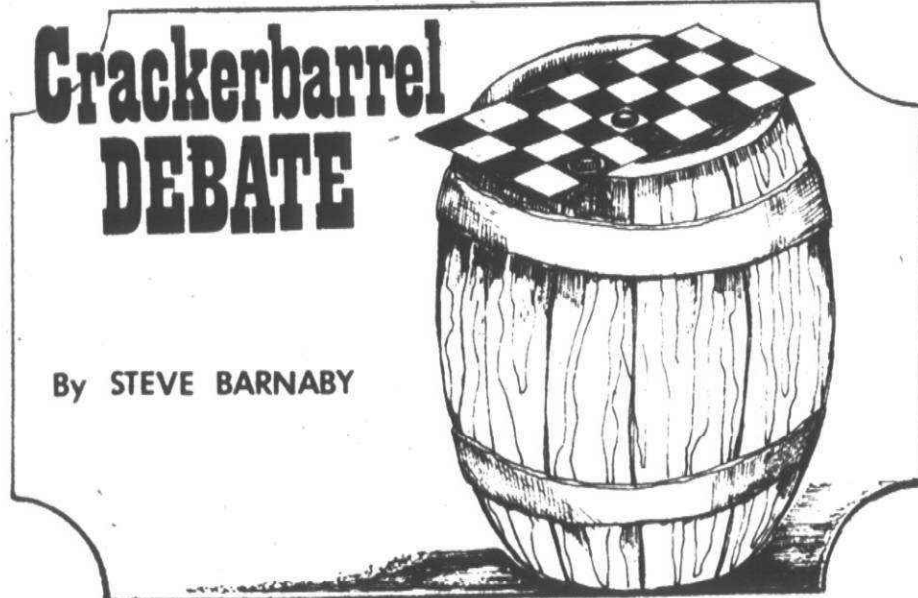

A FATHER IS different when you're a teenager.

"He sure has changed. Won't even let me stay out late. Wants me to study."

It is generally a rugged time, even under the best conditions. You were experimenting with new surroundings, new clothes, new friends and a new body. There was a lot of shouting between you and Dad.

"Boy, I'll be glad when I can move out of here."

But no matter how bad things seem to get with Dad, on graduation day, there he sits in the high school auditorium grinning like a Cheshire cat as you stroll up the aisle and receive your diploma.

Then there's college, that first job, and marriage. The rebellion simmers.

"Look at me. I earn almost as much as he does. I must be smarter. I'm going to college and he doesn't have a degree."

THEN TRAGEDY, you lose your job, the marriage fails, or you find school just wasn't for you.

You're sure he was going to yell. But instead, one late night when the rest of the family is in bed, you come home and have a talk with Dad.

For the first time in years you talk, really talk. No yelling, no arguing, just straightforward talk. He talks, you understand. You talk, he understands.

That night you went to bed knowing that everything would be all right. After all, he said it would. He's always been right before, hasn't he?

Then there was the day you left home for another city or even another country. You wouldn't see him for a long time. His advice would be missed.

Mom cried and made no sense at all. As you walked out the door he clenched your hand, looking straight in your eye. On his face was a barely detectable, private reassuring smile that told you to be brave.

Now you are an adult and on your own. Those special moments have passed much too quickly, but you still remember the words of encouragement and love that only a father could give in his own special way.

Yes, fathers are a very special breed.

— From our readers — Canton citizen council should represent all

Editor:

As members of the committee to form a Canton Citizen's Advisory Council, we oppose Supervisor Greenstein's proposal. Our committee's suggestion provided for total representation of the community based on population. We believe the Greenstein proposal does not provide that representation and is only a disguised Federation of Homeowners.

With initial membership being composed of only one member from each homeowner or civic association, we believe the needs of a large segment of the township population are being ignored. Our committee never believed membership in a homeowner's organization to be a prerequisite for serving the township.

We firmly believe it is of the utmost importance that the Citizen's Advisory Council exist as a "citizens" group to represent the total population of the township and that the needs of the entire township be the motivating force behind each member of the council. We cannot compromise this belief.

Ostrich fern is a common one

30 fern varieties grow in collector's lush garden

BY MARGARET MILLER

Margaret Converse of Livonia will have one of spring's most unusual shows to put before the Farmington Naturalist Club when it visits her Sunday.

In her garden, she has assembled 30 different varieties of ferns. She figures there may be 50 varieties that grow in Michigan, but she doesn't know of anyone who has more growing in the same garden.

And, for anyone who stops beside the cool greenery, Mrs. Converse is glad to point out her garden's inhabitants.

Like the Ostrich fern—"That's the common one; you see it all over and I have to keep pulling it out or it takes over."

Or the Maidenhair—"That's my favorite; you see it all over northern Michigan, but some grows here too. I found it in Volk's Woods near Schoolcraft College before they built the apartments there."

She'll also introduce the tall bracken fern and the tiny Oak fern and a cinnamon fern with curling, reddish brown fronds—"They're the fertile fronds; they die away after they open."

THIS SPECIAL GARDEN had its beginnings years ago and, as Mrs. Converse puts it, "one thing led to another."

There was first an interest in unusual rocks, and that led to rock-gardening, she explained.

"And I've always liked ferns and palms, but in Michigan weather ferns seemed more practical, so I started a fern collection because I didn't know of anyone else who had one."

"I kept getting more and then decided to try to get all the Michigan varieties."

Most of the ferns now in the garden have been dug up by Mrs. Converse and friends interested in her project in woods all over the state.

"But recently I've gone to the catalogues and started buying some I didn't have," she said. One of the recent acquisitions is a Goldie fern, carefully tended in a favored spot.

"It's just two fronds now, but it will be massive. They grow six feet high in some places."

ONE OF THE NICEST things about her garden, Mrs. Converse said, is the chance to share it with others.

She's showed it off to many school groups, ranging from elementary children, "only the ones who are interested—not the whole class," to visitors from University of Michigan botany classes.

"And sometimes Girl Scouts troops come to see the ferns and learn about them," she said. "I like to be able to work with them and teach them."

Mrs. Converse has picked up a lot of her knowledge from natural history courses offered from time to time by Schoolcraft College.

"I've signed up for everything they offer," she said.

HER FERN collection has plenty to interest the visiting student, whether a beginner or one long interested in these plants that are flowerless and seedless, that grow fronds rather than leaves and that reproduce by means of spores.

The cinnamon fern, with its fronds both fertile and infertile, belongs to the Osmunda family, Mrs. Converse said. Others related are the royal fern and the interrupted fern, so named because the little, dark fertile fronds grow on the same stem with the infertile fronds, leaving a space when they die away.

She likes to point out the Christmas fern.

"It stays green all winter—great to have in the garden because you can have greenery for holiday flowers," she said.

She also is fond of the fragile fern.

"It's the first you see in the spring, and then it dissipates during the hot weather and comes back in the fall," she explained.

And she points out the Lady fern and the marginal fern—"they look a lot alike, but if you look closely you see the lady's stem is slimmer and more delicate,"—and five members of the Dryopteris family—"That's the confusing group, and you have to get down on hands and knees and study them to be sure."

MRS. CONVERSE'S fern garden is her most unusual planting but by no means is it alone in her pleasant yard. She also has a bed of perennials and a place for vegetables, a wild flower garden designed to bloom from spring to fall little Alpine garden with the kind of plants that live well in mountainous country.

There even is a bog garden, ingeniously constructed with an old-fashioned bathtub buried to hold water and simulate marshland.

She mentions ruefully that she shares her territory with Duke, the family's aging basset hound. He has worn paths along the edge of all the gardens but has to be confined to quarters during a storm or he would crush the ferns while seeking their protection.

Recipe Correction

The recipe for Aunt Aleksandra's Torte, published June 9 in The Good Life, was incorrect due to a mechanic error. The correct portions of sugar and butter are as follows: ¼ cup sugar, ½ cup butter.

Schoolcraft representative heads for international meet

By MARGARET MILLER

Schoolcraft College and its women's resource center will have official representation when the International Women's Year Tribune gathers next week for a meeting in Mexico City.

The voice of Schoolcraft in the meeting of women from all over the world is Lois Wade, Garden City resident, part-time student and wife and mother.

She's going listen and learn, she said, and perhaps be a spokesman for a large segment of American women.

"I think I'm fairly typical of a group that doesn't have too many spokesmen—those of us who have families, go to school, maybe work part-time, and are not sure what direction our lives will take when our children are grown."

Comparing notes with these "searchers"—as well as with many other women who join in the Tribunal—will make for an exciting international week, Lois figures.

She will leave Wednesday, June 18 to be on hand for varied sessions that begin June 19 and include such topics as building human community, women across cultures, population, health, the family and education.

A HUSBAND employed by an airline made it possible for Lois Wade to look forward to her big week—and for Schoolcraft to have a voice at the week-long international Tribunal.

It was after the first meeting of the college's new Women's Advisory Committee—a meeting at which there was an announcement of plans for the session—that Lois started musing out loud about how interesting it would be to go.

"My husband, Bill, works for United Airlines, and it doesn't fly into Mexico City," she said, "but he said it might still be possible to arrange.

symbols of International Women's year—the dove, the sign of a woman and the sign of equality.

The Tribunal, open to men as well as women, is a non-governmental forum that will meet concurrently with the inter-governmental World Conference of IWY.

"And he was to be on vacation on that time, so he could take care of the boys, so everything just worked out well."

CONSULTATION with Jean Christiansen, Schoolcraft's head of women's programs, indicated the college would indeed be delighted to have a representative at the Tribunal and would provide official delegation and all the credentials Lois might need.

And, when the Women's Advisory Committee met last week and the plans were announced, Charlotte Adams, another member, was quick to offer her own silver pin with the tives to the governmental gathering will be Patricia Burnett, a Detroit resident who is founder of the Michigan branch of National Organization for Women.

FOR THE TRIBUNEL session, Lois Wade is getting together material about what Schoolcraft offers and also is sorting out her own ideas about her experiences in about six years of attending classes there.

"In that time, I've changed courses twice," she said, "and in that too I think I may be fairly typical of American women returning to the school and work scene.

I'm really not sure what my major will be.

"But I certainly don't think any of my studies have been wasted—if you study something long enough to decide it's what you don't want, that is valuable too."

AT SCHOOLCRAFT Mrs. Wade has been president of Sigma Beta, an organization of adult students, mostly women, who are returning to campus.

"It's mainly a support organization," she said. "We help each other study, trade books, things like that. But I'm proud to say we are the ones who started Schoolcraft's Day Care Center, and I'm especially proud of

STRAWBERRIES are ready for picking in this area, but don't wait too long to get yours. Sue Schultz joined many other pickers

Try strawberry picking for family fun — but hurry

Strawberries have popped out all over the place in areas such as Plymouth Township, Belleville and Ypsilanti. Eager pickers have popped out, right behind them.

Mrs. Roy Schultz, 7854 Lilley, Plymouth Township, who has welcomed customers to her farm for 30 years, has found that already she and her husband have had to limit the number of those allowed to pick the berries in their fields.

"People have been coming early and we have had to turn them away about 9 a.m.," she says. "Otherwise the fields get too crowded."

However, it will be possible to pickyour-own vegetables at the Schultz farm all during the season, or buy produce from the stand in front of the farm.

"Strawberry picking brings out people who want a nice day doing something different," reports Mrs. Schultz. "They like the exercise they get bending down to pick the berries, and there is clean air out here."

At the Schultz farm a quart of self-picked strawberries costs 52 cents.

Also part of the strawberry picking scene this year are the farms of five growers in the Belleville-Ypsilanti area. They have banded together during the season to establish a strawberry pickers hot line.

By calling 699-2088 pickers will hear information regarding picking conditions, crop maturity, availability and directions to the five farms.

None of these farms commercially harvest the best part of the crop first.

They have several different varieties available for jam, jelly, freezing or eating fresh.

The five growers recommend that pickers call first before making the trip to one of their farms.

Canning workshop June 18

A workshop, covering the latest methods of freezing and canning fruit and vegetables is planned for 7:30 p.m. June 18 in Henry Ford Centennial Library, 16301 Michigan Avenue, Dearborn.

Johne Criner, Michigan State University cooperative extension home economist in Wayne County, will conduct the food preservation workshop. A short film will be included and questions will be answered.

All interested persons may attend and admission is free. Plenty of free parking space is available.

Tom Willette wins final pair

Flying Rocks win Class A diamond title

By TOM SCHRAM
Sports Editor
Lanky lefthander Tom Willette put on a pair of stellar pitching performances Saturday and his teammates from Plymouth Salem High School came through with just enough support as the Rocks captured the 1975 Michigan High School Athletic Association Class A baseball championship at Wyandotte Memorial Park. Willette was magnificent in two pressure-packed victories and the Salem offense generated the hits precisely when needed as the Rocks defeated Hazel Park in the semi-finals, 3-2 and came from behind to knock off Bay City Handy in the final game 5-3.

The championship capped a near-perfect year for the Plymouth school which won all nine of its football games, advanced to the semi-finals of the Class A basketball championship and won it all in baseball.

WILLETTE RELIEVED STARTER
Chuck Thomas in the fifth inning of the final game and gave up only one hit in the three innings which he pitched.

Salem was trailing 3-2 when Willette came on but scored three times in the bottom of the fifth and with Willette throwing smoke, the game was virtually over.

In the critical fifth, Dan Moore started the Rocks off with a solid single to right. Dave Pierce bunted along the first baseline and was safe when the bag was left uncovered.

Brian Wolcott was safe on an infield single and Doug Tripp struck out to bring up Willette.

Willette responded with a solid single to left scoring Moore and when the Handy leftfielder had trouble picking up the ball, Pierce also scored.

Charlie Johnson grounded out to deep short, scoring Wolcott with the insurance run and the rest was up to Willette.

Two Handy runners reached base in the sixth but Willette got out of the inning on a long fly to Tripp in right. Tripp stumbled on the play but recovered to make a fine one-handed grab.

In the seventh, Willette took no chances, striking out the side, to give the Rocks the championship.

The Rocks had scored first in the opening inning.

Pierce opened with a single to left and Tripp walked. Willette picked up his first RBI of the day with a single to center scoring Pierce and Inch later knocked in Tripp with a single off the glove of the Bay City shortstop.

Handy really got to Rock starter Chuck Thomas only once when it scored three runs on four hits in the second.

Batteries: Salem — Thomas, WILLETTE and Nagel. Handy — ESCMILLA, Nelson and Halub.

SALEM — HAZEL PARK

Salem reached the final with a pressure-packed 3-2 victory over Hazel Park.

Willette went the distance, striking out 13 and walking five but ran into trouble in the seventh.

With a runner on first and two out, Willette could not get the final out of the game and the Rocks blew a 2-0 lead.

Viking second baseman Dennis Krych doubled to left-center driving in one and Krych came home moments later on catcher Robert Griffin's single to right to tie the game.

The Rocks showed their class in the bottom of that inning, however, when they scored the run that got them into the finals.

Pierce walked on a 3-2 pitch with one out and Wolcott sacrificed him to second for the second out.

Doug Tripp then hit a slow roller to Viking shortstop Mark Schmitz and just barely beat the throw for an infield single.

Displaying alert and courageous coaching, Salem head man Wayne Sparkman sent in the fleet Pierce all the way from second on the play and the surprised Hazel Park team could not make a play.

Salem had scored in the fourth inning when Inch walked and came home on Charlie Johnson's triple to right which got beyond the Viking right fielder, who tried to make a play on the ball.

In the top of the fifth, Hazel Park got its first hit off of Willette and in the bottom of that inning the Rocks scored their second run when Tim Dillon singled to right and came home on Dave Pierce's shot to the leftfield fence.

Willette finished his season with a 14-1 mark and the Rocks closed with a 21-7 record and a state championship which was truly deserved.

Batteries: Hazel Park — Trapani, YANUS and Griffin. Salem — WILLETTE and Nagel.

Borgess girls win state crown too!

While Plymouth Salem's Tom Willette was proving himself the best high school baseball pitcher in the state by winning two games and the state championship Saturday in Wyandotte, an amazingly similar story was being played out some 200 miles to the north where Mary Kay Intyre was showing that she too was the best at her game by winning twice to give Redford Township Bishop Borgess a Class A girls softball title.

Intyre was untouchable in the Spartans' first game as she pitched a no-hitter in the state semi-finals as Borgess topped Bay City Central 7-0.

And she was almost as good in the second game when she limited Portage Central to three runs and four hits as Borgess won the state title with a convincing 15-3 margin.

Pat Cavanaugh singled in two runs in the first inning of the semi-final game as the Spartans scored three times. And Sue Janos and Intyre each had RBI singles in the second when Borgess scored another pair.

One run would have been quite enough in that game as the Bay City team could do absolutely nothing with Intyre who lived up to her reputation as the best prep fastball pitcher in the state.

Monica Meyers went three-for-four in that game to pace the Spartans.

The final game was no contest as Borgess ran away to the first state title ever played in the sport.

In the finals it was the Borgess hitters along with Intyre who dominated the game.

The Spartans scored four times in the opening frame, added one in the second and exploded for seven in the third to put the game out of reach with a 12-0 lead.

In the big third inning, Borgess scored on three singles, four walks and four Portage Central errors.

Intyre and Lori Temonti each went three-for-three to lead the Spartans offensively.

All games were played in Lansing's Ranney Park.

Crissey — Canton's 'family man' is baseball coach of year

By JIM BRADLEY

Coach Fred Crissey leaned forward in the third base coach's box, his face intense as the jammed Les Anders' championship game crowd edged forward in their seats.

Tied 2-2, with one out in the sixth inning, Canton's three baserunners danced off the sacks as ninth batter Scott Dunagan got ready for a two-strike pitch.

Crissey went through many motions, much like a man brushing away mosquitos, as the tension mounted. As the pitch came flying toward the plate, suddenly Dunagan swung around and bunted the high fastball back toward the pitcher's mound. The surprised hurler juggled the ball momentarily, then fired to the catcher who made a belated swipe at the sliding runner.

Safe! The surprise element had sent Canton into a 3-2 lead and the Chiefs scored on a sacrifice fly from the next batter to capture the coveted Les Anders' title, 4-2.

"Grace under pressure" is how writer Ernest Hemingway defines courage.

Crissey, a great history buff, quotes Hemingway and other authors in helping build discipline and tradition in the short three years he's been at the helm of Plymouth Canton High School baseball fourtunes.

For his efforts in bringing Canton so far so fast, Crissey has been selected Observer & Eccentric Coach of the Year.

The intense coach, of Italian and English ancestry, comes from the old school. "I believe in discipline, handed out fairly, and total commitment to the job at hand," he said.

Dedication to baseball helped Crissey take a group of 9th and 10th graders, only one of whom played regularly the previous year, and record a 14-3 record playing an independent JV schedule in 1973. Last year, Canton went 11-9 in its first varsity season, finished second in the Western Six League with a 6-4 mark, the first time any Canton team had wound up over .500. Against 1974 state champion Livonia Churchill, Canton won 1-0 in the first game and dropped the second, 4-1, in 13 innings during the regular season.

This year the Chiefs were rated the number one team in the state by a vote of coaches. They ranked first in the Observer & Eccentric ratings, won the Western Six title with an 8-1 record and went to the state district finals before bowing out. They finished the season with a 22-4 record.

Crissey comes by his knowledge of baseball from playing under Art Masucci, the builder of diamond powers at St. Benedict in Highland Park.

"I believe he's the main reason I'm coaching today," Crissey reflected. "He helped me so much and guided me in my personal decisions that I felt I could do the same for others."

The 40-year-old veteran coach, who is also a physical education instructor at Central Middle School in Plymouth, pitched four no-hitters while at St. Benedict's.

Crissey graduated from University of Detroit in 1960 after finishing two years in service. After serving as assistant coach for Massucci for three years, Crissey coached football, basketball and baseball in grades 1-8 at Our Lady of Good Counsel in Plymouth.

In 1970 Crissey joined the Plymouth School system, teaching at Pioneer Middle School and serving as assistant high school varsity football coach and tutoring the JV baseball squad. Then when Canton opened, he assumed the role of assistant varsity football coach and head baseball mentor.

Coach Crissey believes strongly in the family concept—even carrying it to the ballfield.

"I stress strongly the need for everyone on my team to care about the other guy. That's one of the main reasons for our success, I believe."

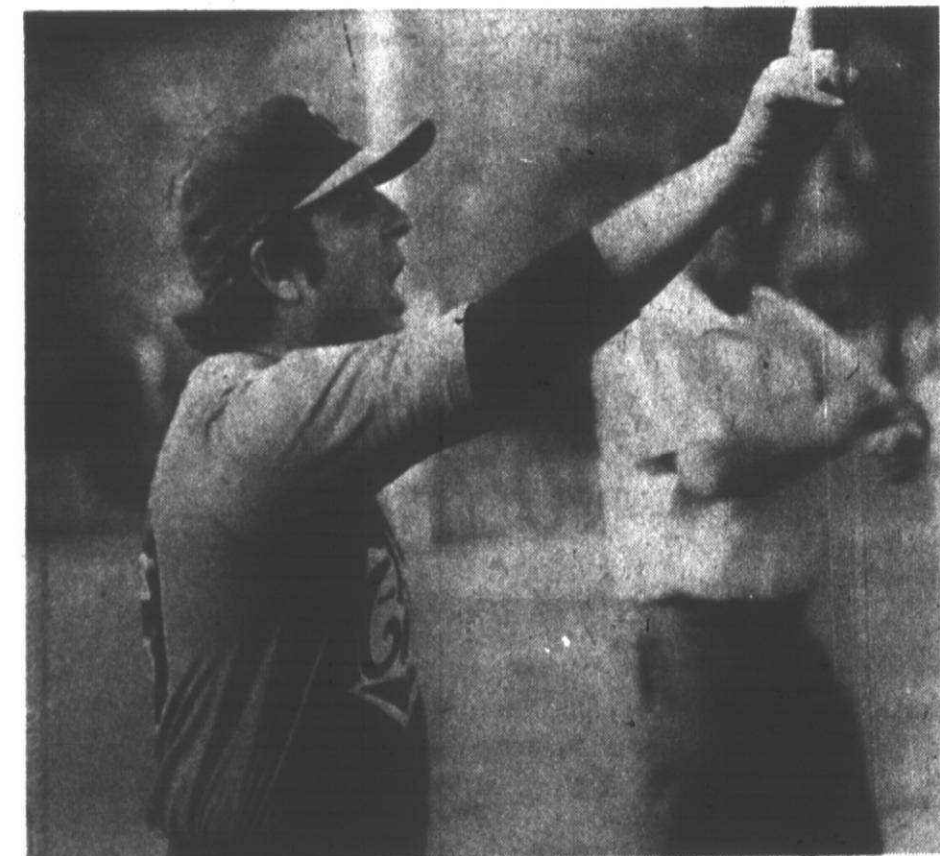

Crissey has helped take Canton out of the shadow of its 'Big Brother' Plymouth Salem by putting the Chiefs on the state baseball map.

"I believe our trip to Cincinnati this past Easter vacation week helped build unity and the family feeling," the Canton coach adds. "Seniors mingled with sophomores and everyone had a real good time. The main thing I'm trying to promote around Canton is that baseball is a means to an end — not the end itself," he says.

Crissey's effectiveness at teaching everyone to care for the others on the team and his 'one big family' concept

No-hitter sparks Redford split

As the long Adray League season stretches out through the summer, one thing is certain for Redford Adray's Kevin Bara. He is not going to get much better.

Bara started the season just the way he wanted to last Sunday as Redford blanked Livonia Griffin 3-0 and Bara recorded the first no-hitter of the summer season in the first game of a twin-bill.

Griffin came back to win the second game 5-2 for a split with Redford team which has won the league title for 11 straight years.

In the opener, Griffin never really came close to a hit. The hardest hit ball was a tough grounder to Redford first baseman George Willard in the second inning off the bat of Larry Lipka.

Bara ran into a little control problem in the seventh inning when he walked two but finally got the last out of the game when he retired Rod Hawraney unassisted.

"Bara was pitching well but I've seen him with a lot better stuff," said Redford coach Bob Atkins.

Redford scored a pair of runs in the second on a walk to Brian D'Ascenzo, a single by Willard and two Griffin errors.

Redford added one in the fourth on John Broder's single, a sacrifice and Willard's double to right-centerfield.

Each team had five hits in the nightcap but the difference in the game was four errors by Redford.

Jamie Knapp and Tim Fisher combined for the win for Livonia while Ray Ivy took the loss.

Griffin scored four times in the second inning to put the game away. Redford committed two errors that inning and Venius Jordan had a two-RBI-single to highlight the rally. Redford loaded the bases three times in the first four innings without scoring and did not break into the scoring column until the sixth when it scored twice. Mark Yourchuck's in-ring-opening triple was the big hit of that inning.

Griffin got one run back in the bottom of the sixth when Jordan who also plays for Concordia college, singled in Gary Condor.

Redford Snyder takes four games

Snyder's Softball Club of Redford had its hitting clothes on last week in romping to four victories in Major Metro Travel League play. The four wins improved Snyder's West Division record to 18-2 and extended its lead over Little Caesars of Southgate to two full games.

Snyder's opened the week by whipping Starvin' Marvin's of Wyandotte, 29-11 and 15-8. Larry Elkins led the way in the opener with four homers and seven runs batted in. John Hinds homered twice in the second game.

But that proved to be a mere warm-up, as Snyder's came back to bury Bert's Blackhorse of Detroit, 18-8 and 49-7, under a barrage of 30 home runs, 21 of them in the second game. Jim Mitchell had three homes and five RBI in the first game. Elkins hit five out and batted home 10 runs in the nightcap, and Doug Gerdes weighed in with three homers and 14 RBI.

Mitchell also had three homers in the second game to extend his league-leading totals to 31 homers and 66 RBIs in 20 games.

Jim Snyder's club faces tough opposition Tuesday night, meeting East Division leader Uniroyal in a doubleheader at Claude Allison Field in Redford starting at 7:45 p.m.

WE DON'T SWEEP OUR DIRT UNDER THE CARPET!

CLEANLINESS counts and cleanliness is everyone's job at Meijer. We work hard at keeping the merchandise areas, the checkout lanes, and the parking lots clean. We know you like a clean store in which to shop.

BUT, CLEANLINESS isn't just what shows. Behind the scenes in the stores' back rooms and in the distribution center, Meijer employees work at maintaining sanitary conditions.

QUALITY CONTROL is rolling ahead at Meijer. To increase our control and standards of sanitation, we have a traveling Quality Control Lab. Inside the lab are a refrigerator for storing samples, a microscope to help perform bacteriological tests, a set of weights to check packaging accuracy and a variety of sanitizing supplies.

GUY ESTEP, MEIJER SANITARIAN, will be operating from the Quality Control Lab at all unit locations. Not only will the Quality Control Lab serve as a mobile testing unit and office, but Guy will be able to train store personnel to identify and correct sanitation problems.

IF YOU SEE GUY and the Quality Control Lab, stop and say "Hello". And....if you see something which you feel is unsanitary, please let us know so we can take care of it immediately.

VEAL SALE!

Veal comes from young, specially fed calves, two to three months old. But the best veal comes from milk-fed calves, which is the only kind Wrigley sells. So you can make delicious veal cutlets, veal chops, veal roast, leg of veal, and many other recipes. And with our special low prices this week, you can make them all for less.
